“ Steve from the time of being a tike was always very vibrant, engaging, inquisitive, and had a great memory. He rarely blended into background with an extensive repertoire of stories and jokes. He never stopped growing from times in Manitowoc, summers at Ivor's farm in La Crescent, really BIG hair days in the 80's (We can blame that on working on the Paul Simon campaign), Iowa, and ultimately having the common sense to know how lucky he was to find Maria and grow their lives together.

I will especially miss our little texts and communication about the ongoing events of each Packer game and his travels. Steve made our lives more full with his views, perspective, kindness and willingness to share. He was a great example of living life to the fullest.
